REFLECT!

Mr. Herbert Gardner has succeeded to the Hardware business of Chase & Gardner, and has at the old stand the celebrated Charter Oak Cook Stoves, as well as a full line of House Furnishing Goods, Camping and Mining Outfits—including Tents and Wagon Covers, Union Canvas and Duck Cans, supplies for cattle and sheep men, Wool Sacks and Wool Twine—a large lot soon to arrive, any everything wanted by ranchmen or miners in the city. Locks, Guns, and Pistols repaired. Anything in Tin, Copper, or Sheet-iron made to order. Prices down to hard-pan.

NOTICE—EVERYBODY.

The law requires every citizen to list his property and return to the Assessor before May 20, 1877. A schedule must be taken from all persons whether they be property holders or not. The office of the Assessor is Room No. 10, second story of Union Block.

Z. J. EATON, County Assessor.

AWAY GOES THE CROCKERY!

Crockery and Glassware at F. L. Martin's are being sold as fast as packing can be done. The prices are so low that it has been found that the auction sale is unnecessary to dispose of the stock—consequently the auction sale has been deferred for the present. If you want cheap goods in this line, by all means go and see Mr. Martin's stock.

VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL LESSONS.

Miss C. Z. WALKER is now ready to begin the instruction in Vocal and Instrumental (piano and organ) music, of her pupils already engaged, and to receive others, at her residence, corner of Wahsatch Avenue and Huerfano Street.

CANCELLING.

Mr. John Courter is prepared to cancel notes and orders in an acceptable manner. Cancellation is far preferable to waiting from one to the other, it costs nor risk of loss of everything to the creditor. For full particulars, call on Mr. Courter, or address him at Colorado Springs, and receive a reply by return mail.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

The City Clerk's office hours are from 1 to 3 o'clock p. m. F. M. Dow, City Clerk.

Colorado Oats at G. M. Sweet's.

The Tailoring Establishment of Charles Stearns, on Huerfano Street, is manufacturing handsome suits for spring and summer wear at lower prices than can be obtained in Denver; and every suit that goes out of the house gives satisfaction, in fit, material, and workmanship.

Colorado Oats at G. M. Sweet's.

Renne's Nervine mixed with molasses and water is excellent for colds, sore throat, and chills.

NEW FURNITURE AND CARPETS

are being received every day at Hodgman & Westerfield's Store. The very best extra Superfine Ingrain Carpet, worth $1.25 in any place in the U. S., at $1.00 per yard. All other grades of Ingrain and Tapestries, at corresponding prices. We invite all to examine our patterns and compare our Carpets and Prices with any other Carpets and any other Prices they can obtain any place in Colorado—Colorado Springs not excepted.

Colorado Oats at G. M. Sweet's.

Dress goods, fancy goods, notions and clothing at bed rock prices at O. T. BARKER'S.

J. A. Hay makes a specialty of shoeing horses troubled with corns and other diseases of the feet. Huerfano Street, sign of the big horse-shoe.

The price of Blue Grass reduced one-half at G. S. BARNES'. Barnes' is also headquarters for California Shears, Sicks, Wool Twine, Wagons, Wagon Covers, and Tents.

I am prepared to deliver pure, soft spring water at 20 cents per barrel. I have walled up a large spring adjoining Riggs's Ranch, and will deliver the same water that supplies his spring without the 15 cents per barrel royalty. The pump and spring are as free to the public as the gospel. T. E. JOHNSON.

Mine water was not cut from Divide Lake, but was cut from ponds constructed on Cheyenne, and is free from alkali and other impurities, and had no bad surroundings, such as out-houses, pig-pens, slops from section house, etc. T. E. JOHNSON.

You will find my order book at Duncan's Book Store, adjoining the postoffice, and at Barnes' Hardware Store, for Ice, Spring Water, Ice Cream, and Dairy Products. Orders promptly filled by T. E. JOHNSON.

Youths', Boys', and Infants' Suits, cheaper than the cheapest, at D. W. ROBBINS'.

FREIGHTERS!

Remember that J. A. Hay will always give you a good rate in Blacksmithing or Horse-shoeing. Huerfano Street, sign of the big horse-shoe.

SILVER PLATED WARE.

A large lot of Silver plated Ware for sale at G. S. Barnes'. Call and see the stock.

W. Bush, at the Bakery 2 doors north of the Postoffice, has just received the largest and finest assortment of Candies in the city. 200 boxes to choose from. He would particularly call the attention of the ladies to English Colts foot Rock, Cough Troches, and hand-made Chocolate Creams, Nougat Creams, Cocoa nut Creams, Ice Cream Caramels.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents in Colorado Springs, Thursday evening, May 10, 1877, Rev. C. W. Blodgett officiating, Mr. James P. Raynor, of South Park, to Miss Jennie Sindelee, of this city.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

A very interesting union missionary meeting was held in Unity Chapel at 2 o'clock on Thursday, May 3. This meeting was exclusively for ladies. Reports from the various societies in the State, auxiliary to the W. B. M., were given; also reports from the Children's Bands, there being two such organizations in the State.

The societies of the different churches in this city were represented, and their several reports given. Discussions, occupying from ten to fifteen minutes each, were next in order. The questions "How shall we best interest the Children's and Women's Meetings," were taken up successively, and elicited some very interesting remarks. Two carefully prepared and entertaining papers were read—one from Mrs. Chittenden, of Boulder, and one from Mrs. Palmer, of this city.

THE POOLE COLLEGE.

In view of the fact that Prof. Poole contemplates establishing his College in Colorado Springs, the following account of the institution presided over by him at Pleasant Hill, Mo., taken from the St. Louis Daily Journal, may not be without interest:—

The first thing to attract the attention of the tourist upon his arrival at Pleasant Hill is the bright new uniforms of the college cadets. We had the pleasure of a visit to this very excellent institution while an entertainment was being given by its Literary Society, and we must say that, as were the large audience present, we were highly pleased and entertained with the exercises. The college is conducted on the military academy plan, but has commercial, English, scientific and classical departments connected. The college is presided over by Major F. R. Poole, formerly of the U. S. A., and its discipline and efficiency are of the highest order. The college is yet in its infancy, and yet success from other States are almost daily arriving. The people of Pleasant Hill are jubilant over their more school, that has already gained a State and will soon have a National reputation.

The parade grounds of the college are beautifully laid out, with a riding school attached, and during intermissions the young gentlemen are trained in military evolutions, thus adding grace and vigor to their bodies. The pupils come from every State in the Union, Pleasant Hill, of course, being the most southerly point. The college is now in a flourishing condition, and is rapidly growing in public favor. Prof. Poole is a gentleman of the highest character, and is universally esteemed by all who know him. He has a large number of pupils from Colorado, who will be pleased to see him.

[illegible]

Scarlet fever has made its appearance in one family in town.

Four children fainted at the public school on Thursday within five or ten minutes.

Miss Maggie Barker is teaching a private school in the room at the back of the M. E. church.

Trains on the D. & R. G. are daily running to the front with iron for the Fort Garland extension.

The Episcopal Church at Rosita, Rev. G. M. Hoge, Rector, was consecrated by the Rt.-Rev. Bishop Spalding on Sunday last.

There is at least one case of great destitution in town. Please hand your subscriptions to J. W. Gilfillan, treasurer of the Relief Society.

The floor of the Presbyterian church has been entirely covered this week with a new carpet, and the pews are to be cushioned in a short time.

Grasshoppers with wings large enough to fly have made their appearance in town this week. It is so unknown whether they are natives or visitors.

Rev. Mr. Walker will officiate in Grace Church to-morrow morning and evening. Evening theme: "The Fifth Commandment, or Parental Training and Filial Obedience."

The gross earnings of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway for the week ending April 30, 1877, were $14,108 32. The gross earnings for the month of April were $51,226.78.

An eight-mule outfit with two large covered wagons left by the Ute Pass Road Thursday with nearly 9,000 pounds of goods, most of it for the Malta Smelting Company, in California Gulch.

The building lately occupied by Peter Becker's harness store has had the front taken out and large show-windows inserted. Next week Mr. Samuel Whittaker will move into it a stock of dry goods.

The Board of Health has sent notices to certain citizens, instructing them to remove filth and dirt from the premises occupied or owned by them, failing which proceedings will be instituted against them.

A communication signed "Citizen," regarding the coal supply of Colorado Springs, came through the mail early this week. It does not appear for the sufficient reason that the writer failed to append his real name.

Mrs. Backster, widow of George E. Backster who died at Manitou on the 21st of March, has been appointed postmistress at that place, vice Dr. Isaac Davis. The office will be removed from Dr. Davis' store to that of Mrs. Backster.

At the election for school director held last Monday all over the State, women voted in the different towns as follows: Colorado Springs, 438; Georgetown, 127; Denver, 323; Monument, 6; Pueblo, 0; Greeley, 20; Golden, 13.

Persons are requested not to defer bringing their contributions or advertisements to this office until Friday. When brought in so late in the week it occasions delay in the appearance of the paper, which is annoying to both readers and publishers.

Forty ladies have agreed to take charge of the supper at the Military Assembly next Wednesday evening. This guarantees that the refreshments will be prepared and served in elegant style—for whoever knew Colorado Springs ladies to fail in any affair of the kind?

Rev. R. F. Gross, pastor of the Congregational Church, preaches twice in town every Sunday, besides preaching in the afternoon at places in the country three and a half or five miles distant. Once in three weeks he preaches at an out-station twenty miles away, going on horseback. He finds he is able to encore much more work here than in the East.

Does the license system control? The United States government licenses the sale of liquor and tobacco, and yet there are frequent cases where parties are arrested for selling these articles without obtaining a license from the government, and the officers who persist in the "force" of prosecuting these offenders, as the following paragraph from the Denver News of Sunday will show: Wm. H. Bennett, from the Device, was on Friday arrested by the United States Marshal for selling liquor and tobacco without license. He was taken before United States Commissioner Brooks, waived examination, was released on $500 bond.

Silver has been made a legal tender in Ohio and Nevada to any amount for all payments of taxes, etc. It is likely to be the occasion of an Congress at the earliest date possible. Official Paper of El Paso County and of the City of Colorado Springs.

THE CITY'S PROSPECTS.

Every spring, just before the first Monday in April, we have great complaint of dull times, and predictions are freely made by the advocates of license of the utter decay of everything in our midst unless a few persons are granted the privilege of selling rum. Election day comes and just as certainly whisky and its friends go to the wall, but the town still stands and utter chaos fails to put in an appearance. Now we believe that those of our people who have lived here since the town was organized have not failed to notice that general business has always been the dullest when the greatest quantity of whisky was being sold. When those who came here with a view to settle saw one or more saloons open in utter defiance of law, they were very apt to conclude that where law was disregarded there could be no safety to property, and consequently many of them did not remain with us. We have taken some pains within the last month to inquire into the condition of affairs in the other towns of the State, and our inquiries have satisfied us that in no town in Colorado is business better, or even so good, in no town are there so few empty tenantable houses, in no town has the call in the value of real estate been so slight; in no town is the general feeling so satisfactory as in the town of Colorado Springs.

THE FARMING INTERESTS

INSTALLATION SERVICES.

In accordance with letters missive sent to the several Congregational Churches of this State by the Congregational Church of this city, a Council composed of delegates from the different churches assembled here on the 4th instant for the purpose of installing Rev. R. T. Cross pastor of the Church at this place. Delegates were also present from St. Paul, Minn., and Fort Russell, Wyoming. Several of our city churches were represented by their pastors.

Rev. Mr. Terry, of St. Paul, was chosen Moderator of the Council, and Rev. A. K. Packard, of Greeley, Scribe. The former opened the meeting with prayer.

The correspondence between the Church and pastor-elect was read; also certificate of his license to preach, ordination, and church membership. The candidate gave an account of his religious experience, and read a statement of his doctrinal belief, after which the examination was continued by questions and answers.

The examination was declared satisfactory, and a committee was appointed to confer with the pastor-elect and the church committee and arrange for the installation ceremonies at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

At the appointed hour the following proceedings were had:—

Scripture reading—Rev. A. K. Packard.
Prayer—Rev. J. A. Porter.
Charge to Pastor—Rev. C. C. Salter.
Right hand of Fellowship—Rev. M. K. Holbrook.
Address to the People—Rev. C. M. Sanders.
Welcome from the People—Rev. R. C. Bristol.
Welcome from the Sunday-school—Prof. W. D. Sheldon.
Welcome from Pastors of the place—Rev. A. L. Vail.
Prayer—Rev. E. N. Bartlett.
Benediction by the Pastor.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE IMPERATIVE.

"A quiet on the Potomac." Even the Potomac, under the quiescent command of McClellan, was hardly ever more quiet than our city has been on the temperance question since the election of a little more than a month ago. The only ripple has been a little official activity that did not "boil over" very abundantly. We are waiting for another such ripple, which we hope will rip into the lawless more effectually than did the aforesaid. Not being in the confidence of the honorable Board I do not know any more than the druggists when the quiet waters will again be disturbed. Leaving that matter with those to whom it belongs, I am disposed to lay before the public somewhat of my communings with my own spirit on a subject closely related to it.

It has been said that we have a temperance revival each year just before the municipal election. Well, I am happy to remark that that observation is essentially correct. We do, and we ought to. If we didn't we would wish we had. When the devil mounts his high horse (the figure is not very elegant but then it will work) and charges around town with a manner of mischief in his eyes, it is time to have a revival, isn't it? That is what he does on this temperance question just before election generally, and so it comes to pass that about that time of year we have a temperance revival generally. Cause and effect, you see. More effect so far than the "old fellow" likes, therefore he taunts us with being fickle in a good cause, going by jerks. The taunt is worth thinking about.

I believe in prohibition of the liquor traffic, therefore I pitch in for the revival when, in consequence of eleven months of inactivity, we are in a tight place and seem likely not to get out whole unless we raise a rumpus. But to my mind it is a choice between two evils, losing the election or winning it by an inferior method. There is certainly a better way, and until this better way is adopted we may reasonably expect a substantial repetition of the experience of two years past for a long time to come. Undoubtedly very much depends on the persistent, vigorous, skillful prosecution of violators of law by the authorities, but, in my humble judgment, even more depends on that which law, however effectively enforced, can never produce—a widely pervasive, thoroughly sound, and practically consistent temperance sentiment. What people are really thirsty for they will have, more or less, legally or illegally. The need for wearisome vigilance and vexatious prosecutions by the authorities and of an annual anxiety and spasmodic strain by the whole body of temperance people will decline just in proportion to the decline of the craze for liquor. We may cry "peace, peace," as we please, but we will be every time we cry it until, back of policy and back of law, we reach the springs of individual lives and fill them with a conviction of the imperative necessity for total abstinence. With the permission of the editor, something in this direction may be attempted at another time. A. L. V.

CITY COUNCIL.

The city council met at their rooms May 7, 1877—present, all the members; his honor, the Mayor, in the chair. Minutes of an adjourned meeting held April 19, 1877, read and approved.

A petition was read from Sagendorf & Culver, requesting a license as provided for in chapter 14, section 7, of an ordinance relating to intoxicating and malt liquors.

On motion of Alderman Barter the petition was laid on the table.

An ordinance relating to the city cemetery was submitted by Alderman Barter, which was adopted and ordered to be published in the official paper of the city.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Rogers and adopted by the council, directing the clerk to purchase a book of 500 plant certificates of purchase; 500 plant certificates and 200 monthly reports for physicians, as required by sections 1 and 2, of an ordinance respecting the duties of City Sexton.

Alderman Rogers next offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the clerk to open an account with the city cemetery, to be known as the city cemetery fund, and that all moneys received from the sale of lots in said cemetery or otherwise, shall be held and paid out for cemetery purposes and none other.

A motion was then made by Alderman Bradbury that the friends of deceased persons already buried in the city cemetery be notified that the lots occupied by them are for sale, and the value of said lots, and be requested to remit the amount. The motion was carried.

Bids for furnishing the city with lumber for the present year from the following parties were then read: C. R. Hustec, S. P. Gunsaul, Charles Walker, Z. P. Davis, and J. A. Weir. On motion of Alderman Bradbury, further consideration of the bids was laid over until the next meeting.

The following resolution, offered by Alderman Rogers, was adopted:—

Resolved, That the Street Commissioner be instructed to repair the bridge across the big ditch at the north end of Wahsatch Avenue and grade up the approaches thereto; also to put a crossing in the first ditch south of said bridge on said avenue; also to grade up the crossing on Yampah Street, on the east side of said avenue; also to build a bridge across the big ditch at the north end of E Paso Street.

On motion of Alderman Barter, the Constable was instructed to notify certain citizens to remove dirt and filth from their premises.

The following bills were allowed:—

On motion of Alderman Rogers, the City Clerk was instructed to purchase one plow and one scraper for use of city.

The monthly report of F. E. Dow, City Treasurer, was then read and ordered to be placed on file.

An ordinance for the sale of real property for unpaid taxes was next read and adopted.

On motion, Council adjourned.

F. E. Dow, City Clerk.

A letter from Del Norte, published in Saturday's Pueblo Chieftain, thus speaks of the expected arrival of a citizen of Colorado Springs, in connection with one of the richest mines in Summit District: "Joe Zerr is expected in Del Norte soon, when he will take the management of the Golden Queen works. Judging from the name obtained from the Queen last assay, there is no reason to fear that the present season of developing not wonderful veins, that we know nine. Altogether the future of Summit never looked more promising than at present."

A. T. Scott made his fortune through advertising.

PRESBYTERY OF COLORADO.

The Presbytery of Colorado met in this city in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening of this week, and was opened by a plain, practical sermon from Rev. T. W. Monfort, of Denver. The Presbytery was organized, but no business done in the evening.

At 9 a.m. on Wednesday the Presbytery went into formal business, which has occupied its attention very closely during three days. The reports of the pastors of the churches in the State show a greater degree of spirituality than has ever existed before. Some twenty ministers report growth of churches and large accessions, and in the new fields that are opening where church organizations are called for, ministers are numerous. Three new churches are reported. One at Lake City, one at Ouray, one at Arkansas River.

The most interesting meetings of the session, and the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by this church, were the popular meetings in the evenings. The Sabbath-school meeting on Wednesday evening was one of the best ever held in this city. Dr. Jackson had a large map of the United States, 20x12 feet, hung up over the pulpit. The Synod extends from British Possessions to Mexico.

Rev. D. J. McMillan, of Utah, gave an address, describing his work in Mormondom. The audience was forced to cheers and tears, and a sensation of indignation against those satanic practices among the priests. A collection was taken of $17.00 on the spot, which was given to Rev. McMillan, to sustain his work at Mt. Pleasant, Utah.

Dr. Jackson addressed the ladies of the church and city on Friday morning, and $30.00 were pledged by them, and $15.00 paid, to support a missionary among the Moqui Indians.

Unity, harmony, and love hasead and characterized all the debates and work of the Presbytery. The ministers and elders have worked hard, and have thrown their hearts, heads, and consciences into all their deliberations, and what they have done has been well done and the church shows that its active growth and health has only commenced in the State. Several new churches will be organized during the summer in the San Juan Country. The ministers have done us good, and done good work for the State at large.

Different ministers of the Presbytery will occupy the various evangelical churches of the city on Sabbath night.

CUSTER COUNTY NEWS.

At a meeting of the citizens of West Mountain Valley, in the new county of Custer, the following resolutions were adopted. They explain themselves:—

WHEREAS, On the 26th day of March, A. D. 1877, T. W. Hull, of Hardscrabble, H. E. Austin, of Rosita, and R. S. Sweetland, of Ula, were appointed commissioners for the new county of Custer, by the Governor of the State of Colorado; and whereas, said commissioners, under and by virtue of the powers delegated to them by the act of the Legislature creating Custer County, did, on the 11th day of April, 1877, order that the county seat be located at Ula until established as required by law; and whereas, T. W. Hull and R. S. Sweetland voted for Ula, and H. E. Austin voted for Rosita; and whereas, a so-called indignation meeting was held in Rosita on Saturday, the 21st day of April, 1877, at which meeting a series of resolutions were adopted and afterward appeared in the public prints, reflecting upon the honor and integrity of said T. W. Hull and R. S. Sweetland, because of their action in locating said county seat in Ula, now therefore,

Resolved, That said meeting, held in Rosita, was instigated and controlled by a very few individuals, representing little or no taxable property, and said resolutions were drafted and adopted to gratify personal spite and malice, and were not the sentiments of a majority of the people of Rosita.

Resolved, That T. W. Hull and R. S. Sweetland, in locating the county seat at Ula, were governed by the wishes of a majority of the people of Custer County.

Resolved, That H. E. Austin, in voting to locate the county seat at Rosita, was just as under the circumstances, he could not be expected to do, ignore his home town, when the local demand was made upon him in the matter.

Resolved, That the people interested of the new county of Custer demand the location of the county seat at Ula, and that his excellency, John L. Routt, Governor of the State of Colorado, could not have appointed three men in Custer County of more strict honesty, who would more zealously guard the rights and interests of the whole people, free from all prejudice in every particular, than T. W. Hull and R. S. Sweetland.

Resolved, That the taxpayers and citizens of this section of Custer County desire to have now, as heretofore, the most friendly relations with other parts of the county, and more especially with the town of Rosita, and extending good and economical government.

Resolved, That a copy of the above proceedings be furnished each of the following papers, viz.: Denver Tribune, Colorado City Colonist, Pueblo Chieftain, Colorado Springs Gazette, Denver News, Denver Tribune, and Chicago Times and Tribune.

DISCOVERY OF FOSSIL MONSTERS.

"Nature has borne strange children in her day," says Shakespeare, and he is not far wrong, if we may judge from some recent discoveries in the rocks of our neighborhood.

Whilst exploring some rocks in the white sandstone hogbacks of the cretaceous period, near Morrison, Bear Creek—the same stratum as is to be found at Colorado Springs a few yards west of old Colorado City—we came suddenly upon a huge vertebra, lying as if it were carved out in bas relief on a slab of sandstone. It was so heavy that it required two men to lift it. Its circumference was 33 inches. We stood for some moments looking in astonishment at this prodigy, speculating as to the nature and size of the creature to which it belonged, then hunted around for more relics. Presently one of the party, a little in advance, cried out, "Why, this beats all!" At his feet lay another huge bone, resembling a Hercules war club, 10 inches in diameter by two feet long, probably a humerus or shoulder bone. On digging beneath it a number of smaller vertebræ were discovered, and at the base of all two enormous fragments, reminding one of the broken columns of some ancient temple, or a couple of saw-logs, lay on the ground, possibly thigh bones, 15 inches diameter at the butt end; and in the cliff above them was another fragment sticking out of the rock like the stump of a tree. With the help of a sledge-hammer and crowbar the rock was removed around it, and underneath lay some ribs 8 inches in diameter, with other bones. The rocks in the vicinity we now discovered to be full of fragments. Selecting one of these, we lifted off a large cap of sandstone above it and disclosed a perfect shoulder, ulna and radius, of another somewhat smaller animal, the thickness of the bones averaging about 5 or 6 inches. This, lying as it were like a beautiful sculpture on the sandstone, we succeeded in removing exactly as we found it. Several smaller bones of animals of various sizes were discovered, but as the sun was fast sinking behind the mountains, we deferred removing our trophies till the following day. During the night it snowed heavily, but next morning we succeeded in dragging our prizes on a temporary sled down the cliff to the road and bringing home to the neighboring village a wagon load of bones and depositing them in a shanty preparatory to packing them off East to Prof. Marsh, of Yale College, for identification. A crowd was soon gathered, staring in astonishment at these gigantic relics of a past creation. Some were skeptical as to their being bones at all, and resisted the same by sagacious winks, shrugs, and other symptoms of superior wisdom, whilst others, believing, wondered at the huge size of the monster to whom they could have belonged. He could not have been less than 60 or even 80 feet long, and some even went so far as to think the whole hogback might be some petrified monster. In the cliff above these bones impressions of leaves were found (Dakota group) of dicoty edonous trees of very singular shape, some resembling a lyre, and others the leaves of the tulip tree, willow, conifers, etc. These trees grew probably on the shores of small islands in the cretaceous ocean in which the marine monsters roamed, and not far off oysters (ostrea congesta), clams (inoceramus), baculites, and ammonites, and other marine shells were found in abundance, which occupied the ocean at the same period when myriads of little animalcule were secreting lime at the bottom of the sea and leaving their skeletons and shells to build up the future great chalk cliffs of England.

A letter received from Prof. Marsh of Yale College, to whom drawings of the gigantic bones discovered lately on Bear Creek were sent, informs us that they are those of a saurian or marine lizard of what exact species cannot be decided until we may discover portions of the head, feet or other characteristic bones. The vertebræ shown include in diameter and thirty-three in circumference is a sacral or lumbar vertebra, and the other seems to be a Kerodactylus probably a femur or thigh bone ten inches in diameter. While we are in suspense as to the exact species to which those gigantic bones belonged, it may be interesting to every citizen of our county to know, if they were the friends and companions of our ancestors, whether they were good or bad specimens of the saurians of old.

Professor Marsh and Cope found in Kansas [illegible] Colorado a [illegible] Sweetland [illegible] we [illegible] [illegible] a [illegible] stood erect with tapering throat and arrow-shaped head, or swayed about describing a circle of twenty feet radius above the water. This extraordinary neck rose from a body of elephantine proportions and a tail of the serpent pattern balanced it behind. The limbs probably were two pairs of paddles like those of Plesiosaurus. Its entire length was fifty feet, of which twenty-two were occupied by the neck. This Elasmosaurus was a carnivorous sea-reptile, and adapted for deep water, into which it could plunge its long neck for twenty feet at a time without moving the rest of its body. It swarmed in the ancient seas of Europe, but in those of Kansas it had to meet formidable foes, the tyrants of the seas, who drove him from his domain. They were huge sea-serpents seventy-five feet long, called Pythonomorphs. Their heads were large, flat and conical, their bodies propelled by two pairs of paddles, and their jaws armed with four rows of formidable teeth. They swallowed their prey entire, and the structure of their mouth shows that they hissed like a snake."

Along the shores of this ancient sea squatted and leaped the Dinosaurs or terrible lizards, one of whom, the Laelaps, was twenty-four feet long. From the length of his hinder legs it is supposed that he was able to walk upright like a biped, carrying his head twelve feet in the air. There was another still larger, thirty-five feet long and of the same habits. In the air overhead huge bat-like creatures (Pterodactyls), combining a lizard, a crocodile, and a bat, flapped their leathery wings twenty-five feet from tip to tip over the sea, plunging now and then into the water for a fish. There were birds too: a diver, (Perpelornis) five and one-half feet high, and some, strange to say, with small vertebræ like a fish, and armed with pointed teeth in both jaws. Enormous tortoises and turtles were the boatmen of the age. One discovered by Cope, in Kansas, was fifteen feet across from the end of one flipper to the end of the other. Huge clams also lay scattered over those ancient shores, twenty-six inches in diameter. Our Saurian did not fall short of the biggest of these monsters; he could not have been less than sixty to seventy or even eighty feet long, and was probably either a Mosasaurus or lizard allied to the Elasmosaurus which we have described.

The ocean in which these creatures lived in America was gradually increased by the upheaval of the sea bottom on the west, and soon became almost an inland sea. As the elevation continued and its area was contracted, ridges would rise, isolating portions of the sea into salt lakes and imprisoning the life in them. The stronger soon destroyed the weaker, till the water by evaporation becoming shallower, all life finally died, became skeletons, and in course of ages fossils in sandstone as at Morrison, Bear Creek. The Board approved the appointment of F. P. Lombard and J. W. Fairfield deputy assessors, and approved the official bond of J. W. Fairfield.

At the meeting on Tuesday the Board appointed H. B. Jones road-overseer of District No. 6, in place of John Wolfe, removed from the district.

After consideration the Board determined to go over the Ute Pass road, with a view of seeing what advantageous changes in the road could be made between Rawlen's Bridge and Judge Castello's. They commenced locating the road down Fish Creek, thus avoiding several bad hills and lengthening the distance to some extent. They left for the purpose Wednesday and not returned Thursday evening when this report was written.

RESOURCES OF COLORADO.

The impression prevails, to some extent, that the new State of Colorado is a sparsely settled and slow-going Commonwealth, without important resources, or the elements of prosperity.

Let us now state a few things about the population, growth, products, and resources of Colorado. The area of the State is 106,000 square miles, making it as large as all New England with New York thrown in, or Illinois and Indiana combined. It is one-third plains and two-thirds mountains and parks. There are thirty organized counties. There are two hundred and fifty postoffices, and seventy-five cities and towns; and additional to these some forty new and growing mining camps. The population of the ten largest towns is as follows: Denver, 28,000; Boulder, 4,000; Georgetown, 3,500; Central City, 3,600; Pueblo, 3,500; Colorado Springs, 3,000; Trinidad, 3,800; De Norte, 2,800; Lake City, 2,000; Golden, 2,200. The population of the entire State, as indicated by vote at the October election, is 120,000; increase of population the past year, 15,000; increase since census of 1870, over 75,000.

The varied industries of Colorado are in a prosperous condition. The gold and silver mines of Gilpin, Clear Creek, Park, Summit, and Boulder Counties, and of the new mining districts of San Juan, which have received an increase in population of 8,000 in the past two years, produced, last year, over $7,000,000. The coal mines of Boulder, Jefferson, Weld, and Fremont Counties gave a produce valued at $600,000. This year the total yield of all the mines, gold, silver and coal, will exceed $8,500,000. The farm products are more varied and of larger account than is generally supposed. The ranches along the Platte and Arkansas, and their numerous tributaries, are under good cultivation, and turned out well. The wheat crop of this year is estimated, by good judges, to be over 800,000 bushels—worth $900,000. The colony of Greeley, alone, raised nearly 200,000 bushels. The product of other grain and vegetables exceeds in value $2,250,000. The cattle and wool interests are of considerable importance, although just in their infancy. This year's assessment returns show 450,000 head of cattle, valued at $5,750,000, and 500,000 sheep, valued at $1,000,000. The number of cattle shipped to Eastern markets the past season was 40,000 carloads, or over 600,000 head, added to which were some 30,000 dressed beeves. The wool clip of the seven principal counties footed up 1,885,000 pounds, worth $471,250. The lumber product is quite large from that portion of Colorado known as the Divide. There are some forty mills reporting a product of 22,000,000 feet, worth $450,000.

The assessed valuation of Colorado for 1876 is $44,500,000. The internal revenue paid to the Government during the last fiscal year was $72,669, being greater than either Nevada, Oregon, Arkansas or Vermont, and more than the Territories of New Mexico, Dakota, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho combined.

There are seven railroads in operation, having over 900 miles of track within the State, which will be increased by roads now running to 1,050 during the coming year. The Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph lines are in operation, reaching all the settled portions of the State, except the southwest, and having some 70 offices.

The attractions of climate are drawing many from the East and from Europe. Asthmatics find invariable relief here, and large numbers a permanent cure. Diseases of the throat and lungs are healed, and consumption arrested. The springs at Idaho, Manitou, Cañon City, Jamestown, Hot Sulphur Springs, and Wagon Wheel Gap have already considerable fame for the cure of skin diseases, and there have been recent valuable discoveries in the San Juan region.

Denver, the capital of Colorado, has grown from a town of 4,000, in 1870, to a city of 23,000, in 1876. It is constantly spreading out, has a large wholesale trade, and is the supply point for a large section of country. In a talk about future large cities, a short time ago, Mr. Wm. Orton, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is quoted as saying: "I look with a sanguine mind on the prospects of Chicago, St. Paul, and, I will add, Denver, Colorado. Denver, although a smaller place, has a vigorous business spirit, and seems to me to be the entrepot for all the Rocky Mountain trade, mines, herds and agriculture. I regard Denver as one of the future very large cities."

Mr. Orton has visited Colorado several times, and speaks from a clear knowledge of its resources.—Cincinnati Times.

LOCUST CIRCULAR NO. 2.

The following summary from the records of the commission, will give information of the plans and proposed operations of each commissioner:—

The locust area assigned to each, to facilitate labor, is as follows:—

1. Mr. Riley takes for his field the region east of the Rocky Mountains and south of the 40th parallel, including Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado south of Denver, and New Mexico; the west half of Iowa, and, conjointly with Mr. Packard, British America west of the 98th meridian, where the principal sources of the devastating swarms will probably be found.

2. Mr. Packard will take for his field West Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, and the Pacific Coast.

3. Mr. Thomas takes all the region east of the mountains not enumerated, i. e.: Nebraska, Minnesota, Colorado north of Denver, East Wyoming, and South Dakota; also in conjunction with Mr. Riley, Northwest Iowa.

The publications will consist of circulars, bulletins, memoirs, and the annual report of doings and results of the department of the commission.

To Mr. Riley are assigned more particularly the following divisions of the subject: Botanical Natural History; Insect Enemies and Parasites; Remedies and Devices for Destruction.

To Dr. Packard: Anatomy and Entomology.

To Dr. Packard and Mr. Thomas conjointly: Meteorological Bearings and Migrations.

To Mr. Thomas: Geographical Distribution; Enemies not Entomological; Agricultural Bearings of the Subject.

With a view of securing co-operation, and of obtaining data in the particular divisions of the subject assigned to Mr. Riley, he begs to call attention more particularly to the following copies, and asks careful consideration of the same:

NATURAL HISTORY.—The natural history of the species has been already pretty thoroughly studied, so far as the development from the egg to the mature insect is concerned. Yet I shall be glad to have you communicate any facts or observations in your possession, that you believe to be new or unrecorded. As to the habits of the species, there is more room for fresh observations, as the habits vary somewhat with locality, and my own studies have been mostly made in Missouri and Kansas. I would direct your attention, therefore, under this head, more particularly to topics 12, 13, 14, and 15 of Circular No. 1, or, crops which suffer most; crops most easily protected; crops which suffer least; and the prevailing direction in which the young insects travel, in your section, or any other facts in relation to the marching of the young.

While there may be time to add to what is now known of the natural history and habits of the Rocky Mountain locust with which the commission is more particularly concerned, there is much of interest yet to learn of the other species of locusts that are indigenous in your locality, and are often confounded with the spretus. Any facts as to the habits; time and mode of depositing eggs; state in which the winter is passed; time of acquiring wings; or, in short, any observations upon the native species, and more particularly those that are injurious, are desired by me. The observations should, as far as possible, be accompanied by specimens, and, indeed, I shall be glad to receive specimens of the different locusts or "grasshoppers" from your locality in different stages of growth. They may be killed either by dipping in hot water, by means of a little chloroform, or by throwing in alcohol; and should be mailed to me in sound wooden or tin boxes, packed in coarse saw-dust or cotton, previously moistened with alcohol.

II. INSECT ENEMIES AND PARASITES.—These will differ, also, according to locality, and I shall be glad to receive specimens of all invertebrate animals that may be found preying either internally or externally on the locusts. Such specimens, when soft or small, are best preserved in alcohol, and mailed between two layers of cotton thoroughly saturated with alcohol, in a small and tight tin box. When larger, they may be mailed as already indicated above. I respectfully solicit answers to the following questions:—

1. What invertebrate animals are known to attack the locust eggs in your locality, and to what extent have they destroyed the same?

2. What insect enemies attack, first, the young; second, the winged locusts; and what percentage of these have been destroyed by them?

3. State any facts that you know about the habits and transformations of the different parasites or other enemies observed.

III. REMEDIES.—Under this head I desire general reports on topics 16 and 17 of circular No. 1—first, as to the means employed in your section for the destruction of the unfledged insects, or to protect crops from their ravages, and how far such means have proved satisfactory; second, the means employed against the winged insects, and how far they have proved satisfactory.

I would more particularly call your attention to the following points:

1. Has any application, either in powder or liquid, been used that protected special plants from locust ravages without injuring the plant?

5. Has harrowing of the eggs in the ash been resorted to, and with what effect; or have any other means been employed to expose or break open the egg-masses?

6. Where satisfactory results have followed the plowing under of the eggs, state the time of year of such plowing, the depth, and the nature of the soil.

7. Where ditching has been resorted to, to protect fields from the inroads of the unfledged locusts, state the measure of success, the nature of the soil, and the character, particularly as to the depth and width, of the ditch.

If any measures not recommended by the commission in its bulletins are, or have been adopted, please specify them.

If you desire to test any special measure involving expense, where such tests seem warranted by possible practical results, please correspond with me for further advice and instruction.

IV. DEVICES FOR DESTRUCTION.—Under this head I desire reports as to the efficiency and usefulness of such machines or other mechanical contrivances as have been tried and used in your section. Where any machine has proved useful, I desire to obtain full plans and description of the same, and where possible, illustrations. Where such have not already been drawn up or made, I will co-operate with inventors in getting the work done, where it is thought desirable. So far as time will permit, I shall endeavor to personally examine and test such contrivances, and will aid to the utmost of others, any inventor who communicates his plans.

I will refund, when desired, whatever expense may be incurred for postage in replying to this circular or in forwarding specimens. Copies of documents published by the commission will be sent to correspondents who so request. In accordance with these requests to Cyrus W. Riley, Entomological Commission, northwest corner of 6th and Locust Streets, St. Louis, Mo.

A moon see for the sake of Geo. Thompson and Mike the mule of Locust-wood, Lower Lake, Cal., "Ye Gods and little fishes" was taken to pieces by a jealous husband with a hatchet. It has been pieced together again and is now in good shape.
